8.2 Mediation and Arbitration

If a dispute arises out of or relates to this Contract, or the breach thereof, including any Contractor claim, that is not resolved through the required claims and appeal process set forth in Section 8.1, the parties may, upon mutual agreement, endeavor to settle the dispute in an amicable manner by mediation or other agreed form of alternative dispute resolution process prior to commencing litigation.

8.3 Applicable Law and Forum

This Contract shall be governed by and construed according to the laws of the State of Washington. Any claim or suit between the parties arising out of this Contract may only be filed and prosecuted in King County Superior Court or U.S. District for the Western District of Washington, in Seattle.

SECTION 9 TERMINATION

3. The Contractor shall only be paid for Work performed and Accepted less any damages to the County caused by or arising from such default. All termination payment requests are subject to an analysis of cost or price by the County to verify compliance with the Contract, applicable laws and regulations.
4. The termination of this Contract shall in no way relieve the Contractor from any of its obligations under this Contract nor limit the rights and remedies of the County hereunder in any manner.

C. Termination for Non-Appropriation

1. If expected or actual funding is withdrawn, reduced or limited in any way prior to the termination date set forth in this Contract or in any Contract Amendment hereto, the County may, upon written notice to the Contractor, terminate this Contract in whole or in part.

If the Contract is terminated pursuant to this Section 9.1.C: 1) the County shall be liable only for payment in accordance with the terms of this Contract for Work performed and Accepted prior to the effective date of termination; and, 2) the Contractor shall be released from any obligation under this Contract affected by the termination or a related purchase order to provide further Work pursuant to the Contract.

2. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary, funding under this Contract beyond the current appropriation year is conditional upon the appropriation by the County Council of sufficient funds to support the Work described in this Contract. Should such an appropriation not be approved, the Contract shall terminate at the close of the current appropriation year.

Note. If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

INTRODUCTION

It is a pleasure to submit this proposal to King County to serve as your Government Relations Consultants. Although we are two individuals who each have our own consulting company, we are proposing to perform this work as a team. We have partnered successfully in the past to increase public health funding and we have worked together as part of coalitions representing different organizations with similar agendas. Our ability to work together, our combined strengths in many areas as well as our diverse backgrounds and clientele make us uniquely suited as a team to support the County in its Government Relations efforts.

To assure a clear channel of communication with the County, we propose that Michael Shaw will serve as the team lead. However, the work will be shared equally, with specific responsibilities determined as the agenda is developed and throughout the ever changing legislative process. Because issues overlap and legislative relationships mingle during session, this teamwork gives us the ability to cover a great deal of ground and the advantage of being available on short notice.

This proposal assumes that the county departments, liaisons and administrative staff will work with us to help determine legislation of interest, support our bill tracking, provide background information and provide printed information in certain instances. With thousands of bills introduced each year, and the broad scope of the County's interests, it is important that we all partner to ensure the best outcome in the 2013-14 biennium.

CONSULTANT BACKGROUND

Michael Shaw:

Michael Shaw began his career in 1988 as a Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for King County, appearing regularly before the Superior Court, the State Court of Appeals-Division One, and the State Supreme Court. Later, in 1993, Michael Shaw served the Washington State Senate as senate counsel before returning to King County in 1996 as Government Relations Director. Later, he served as policy director for the Washington State Association of Counties until leaving to form Shaw – Government Relations. Since 1999, Michael Shaw has represented the City of Seattle, the Association of Washington Cities, Snohomish County, Commuter Challenge, American Heart Association, ARAMARK Inc., and the Washington State Association of Counties as their transportation lobbyist at the State Legislature. Current clients include Pierce County, the Washington State Transit Association, PaladinData Inc, the American Planners Association and the Washington State Association of Boundary Review Boards.

Today, Shaw – Government Relations is known for its local government and transportation expertise. In 2000, the Association of Washington Cities retained him to represent the association on transportation matters. In 2005, the Washington State Association of Counties similarly contracted with him to lobby their transportation agenda. In 2006, as lead lobbyist for the Regional Transportation Investment District (RTID) effort, Michael Shaw worked extensively with Governor Gregoire's transportation staff, the House and Senate transportation committee staff and transportation stakeholders, such as the Washington State Association of Counties, Association of Washington Cities, the Transportation Choices Coalition, and Sound Transit to ensure that the RTID went to the ballot. In 2007, Michael Shaw, together with David Foster, led a lobbying effort that obtained $20,000,000 for public health agencies in Washington State. In 2012, Michael Shaw was instrumental in obtaining $9 million for transit operations.

David Foster:

David Foster began his career working in a variety of governmental positions in Olympia and Washington D.C. In 1996 he worked at the King County Council as the lead staff member for Councilmember Nickels on a range of issues including the annual budget, public health, human services and natural resources. After moving to the City of Seattle and beginning his lobbying career in late 2001, David Foster was the lead lobbyist for the City on human services, public health, criminal justice, public safety, and economic development, including the state operating budgets for each of these issue areas. In 2002, he became Seattle's Chief State Lobbyist, leading the team while having the primary responsibilities in issue areas that included operating and capital budget, transportation, land use and infrastructure. Additional duties included coordinating legislative outreach, researching and drafting Seattle's legislative agenda.

In late 2006, David Foster left the City of Seattle to start Foster Government Relations with clients that have included the American Lung Association, Apollo Group Inc., Building for the Arts Coalition, Cannon Power Group, City of Seattle, City of Spokane Valley, Communities In Schools of Washington, HistoryLink, Interior Design Coalition of Washington, National Multiple Sclerosis Society - Greater Washington Chapter, Pacific Science Center, Recreational Gaming Association, Seattle Aquarium Society, Seattle Center Foundation, School Levy Coalition, Washington Childcare United, and Washington State Association of Counties. As a representative of a diverse clientele, he has been active in almost every conceivable issue area, including transportation, public infrastructure, finance, revenue, arts, public health and human services. He has successfully secured funding from the state's operating, capital and transportation budgets and has steered policy legislation through the political minefields of Olympia. He has worked to build a successful business by providing straight forward communication to both his clients and the elected officials that he is working with ensuring that all parties fully understand the issues at hand.

IMPLEMENTATION OF KING COUNTY'S LEGISLATIVE AGENDA

RFP# 1243-12-CMB provides that a submittal shall contain a proposed action plan for the development/implementation of the county's legislative agenda. Michael Shaw has led the development and implementation of legislative agendas for King, Pierce and Snohomish Counties. Similarly, David Foster has experience doing so for the City of Seattle and smaller organizations such as Communities In Schools of Washington, National MS Society and Pacific Science Center.

We practice from the premise that advocacy begins at home with development of a comprehensive strategic plan that includes early outreach to policy makers at all levels, a far-reaching communications network and inclusive participation from partners interested in success on the same issues. As King County's lobbyists, we would build upon the county's and the region's needs and strengths and help implement the necessary action items using our broad knowledge of people, organizations and issues at all levels of government. Together, Shaw and Foster have over 30 years of experience developing and bring legislative agendas to successful completion.

Substantive Issues - General:

As the regional service provider and agent of the State for many functions, counties are involved with the largest spectrum of issues of any local government entity. Substantive issue development generally starts at the department level, where staff identify operating issues or policy concerns that may require legislative remedies. Often these are issues that have been discussed with Council. In some cases, the issues are generated through consortia such as the Washington State Association of Counties. In either case, many of these issues will have been vetted at various sub-associations of the Washington Association of County Officials, the Washington Association of Prosecuting Attorneys, and the Washington State Association of Counties. Interaction with these entities is informative regarding what the other 38 counties are considering and where potential partners or problems may be found.

After sorting and reviewing potential legislative issues and proposals, Michael Shaw and David Foster will work with the Council and Executive staff to focus a potential agenda and help present it to both the Executive and County Council for their review and feedback, and eventually for council adoption.

During this phase, Michael Shaw and David Foster would perform the following additional duties:

- Develop a timeline of the necessary work and each step leading up to the beginning of the legislative session on January 14.
- Assist in policy development, including research and analysis work as related to King County's legislative agenda.
- Meet with legislators and legislative staff, and the executive branch officials to gauge support for the policy positions advocated by King County.
- Advise department staff and officials regarding potential strategy and possible outcomes.
- Apprise and consult with the King County Council's Director of Government Relations and the King County Executive's Government Relations Director concerning emerging issues and possible legislative opportunities that may impact King County.

Budget and Revenue Issues:

Counties across the state are suffering from budget deficits due to decreases in direct funding and diminished grant funding from federal and state government. King County is no exception. King County also has a more limited tax base, with greater service demands because of counties' roles as agents of the state, relative to cities, and suffers the financial consequences of incorporations and annexations. Finally, expectations and requirements are increasingly placed on local government as federal and state governments cut funding or impose unfunded mandates. It is important that funding for public and mental health, low income housing, human services programs, transportation and transit projects be protected in the state budgets. These are areas where we will work with interested parties for statewide funding but also for direct dollars to King County.

Issues regarding local option taxation, liability, and taxing districts largely are the purview of county elected officials, and Michael Shaw and David Foster would work with their staff and perform as directed. We both have long histories lobbying local government budget issues, whether in terms of the general operations, revenue or capital infrastructure funding. Each issue brings unique challenges and would be handled on a case by case basis. Shaw and Foster would, similar to substantive policy issues, provide support to the officials and their staff in developing the issues and doing the pre-session work of stakeholder interaction and information gathering necessary to best inform the county council and executive of their options and potential obstacles and opportunities.

Agenda Implementation:

King County has the largest and the most diverse group of legislators of the 39 counties. That complexity is compounded by changes that will be coming this year: approximately twenty percent of the Legislature will be new in the 2013 session. Nine senators and nineteen representatives will be leaving (this includes representatives who are leaving to run for the Senate). Eight of the departing legislators are from King County. Further, the recent redistricting will be felt next session, as some legislators' districts have changed. It will be important to begin meeting with new legislators and legislators in new roles immediately after the outcome of the General Election is known.

In order to successfully implement King County's legislative agenda, decisions regarding sponsors, support and strategy must be made timely. Michael Shaw and David Foster are uniquely suited to help King County make those decisions since they have the greatest expertise of all the contract lobbyists in Washington State regarding county policy and budget issues. They have relationships with most of the King County delegation, and more importantly, with those legislators who do not represent King County but whose support is necessary to obtain committee hearings and votes in the committees in which the majority of county issues are heard.

Most importantly, Michael Shaw and David Foster seldom leave the Capital Campus when the Legislature is in session. They are there during early morning hearings and during late night floor action. Much of lobbying is being available when opportunity arises, and with Shaw and Foster, one of them is always there working the doors.

Finally, Shaw and Foster believe that the best way to ensure success with King County's legislative agenda is to provide and expect straight forward communication to both the client and the elected officials with whom we work, ensuring that all parties fully understand the issues at hand. At a minimum, this would entail weekly correspondence with the King County Council's and Executive's Directors of Government Relations as well as with the appropriate elected officials. In most cases, the communication will be much greater and will include frequent in person meetings, phone calls, e-mail and written reports.

ISSUE EXPERTISE:

General County Government

Michael Shaw has over sixteen years of experience lobbying county issues, including one year as the King County Government Relations Director. No contract lobbyist has more county lobbying experience. Michael Shaw regularly attends the Washington State Association of Counties' Legislative Steering Committee, and he has either attended or presented at WSAC's conferences for the last 16 years. His expertise ranges from election issues to county produced biosolids. In June 2012, he presented a webinar on how to draft county public works contracts in light of the recent statutory changes regarding indemnity clause for design professionals.

David Foster has eleven years of direct lobbying experience on a large range of issues including nine years lobbying for local government and has almost six years working at the King County Council. His focus has been on all three budgets – operating, transportation and capital – as well as elections, public disclosure, labor and grant funding.

Land Use

Michael Shaw has 20 years of experience with the Growth Management Act, and has worked on issues pertaining to the Shorelines Management Act, the State Environmental Protection Act, and the Land Use Petition Act. He has worked on issues relating to sustainable communities, transit oriented development, storm water permits, JARPA permitting, non-attainment zones, and building codes.

While at the King County Council, David Foster worked on growth management, environmental and transit oriented development issues. He continued much of this work as the lead lobbyist for the City of Seattle, especially in the areas of transportation, transit issues and the environment.

Transportation

Regarding transportation issues, Michael Shaw has worked on the Regional Transportation Investment District (RTID), project-specific funding, Regional Mobility Grants, and various operationsl transit issues. He helped staff last year's Connecting Washington Task Force, and several Joint Transportation Committee studies, including the 2010 study on alternative transportation funding options. During the legislative session, Michael Shaw has regular weekly meetings with transportation committee chairs and has close ties to most of their committee staff.

During his years of experience working on transportation and transit issues, David Foster has developed strong working relations ships with legislators and staff on the transportation committees. For years he was the lead on the Alaskan Way Viaduct effort that ultimately produced a $2 billion appropriation. He has also been intimately involved with efforts to increase transportation and transit funding, such as the RTID effort, and to provide funding options for local jurisdictions.

Human Services, Criminal Justice and Corrections

Michael Shaw was a King County Deputy Prosecutor for over four years. He helped draft major changes to the Juvenile Justice Act and is well versed in the Sentencing Reform Act and its impact on county jails. While WSAC policy director, he worked on issues of jail health care, child dependency issues, public defense issues and community supervision liability issues.

For six years David Foster was the staff lead for Councilmember Nickels on issues related to human services and criminal justice. This included all matters related to the budget. As a lobbyist Foster has represented Seattle on human services and corrections issues again including budget issues. He has also represented the National MS Society, which has been active in working to maintain funding for human services funding in the state operating budget.

Public Health

Michael Shaw has worked on public health issues on behalf of the Washington State Association of Public Health Officials for several years. In addition, he represented the American Heart Association on issues relating to tobacco use, menu labeling, and community clinics. In 2007, Michael Shaw and David Foster successfully lobbied for an ongoing $20 million state appropriation for public health. In 2012, Michael Shaw helped WSALPHO avoid additional budget cuts to public health during one of the most challenging sessions in recent memory.

David Foster has worked on public health issues for most of his career. As the lead staff member for the Chair of the Board of Health, Foster worked closely with Councilmembers, the KC Department of Health and interested parties in all policy development. Foster has represented the American Lung Association since 2008, National MS Society since 2009 and the Bleeding Disorder Foundation of Washington in 2012, all of which have an interest in and advocate in support of better overall public health and health care, including additional funding. As already stated Foster and Shaw partnered successfully in 2007 to lead the effort for the only public health funding increase since the loss of MVET funding in 1999.

Taxes and Revenue

Michael Shaw has successfully worked on local option tax issues relating to transportation, criminal justice, human services, and sports stadiums. For example, in 2010, he obtained for Pierce County a current use exemption for forest land. In 2008, he successfully lobbied the transportation benefit district bill, which gives several local options to counties and cities. He passed bills or stopped bills concerning sales tax, property tax, special purpose districts and franchise fees.

David Foster has been involved in almost every recent local option funding request by local government or effort to repeal local authority since 2002, including local B&O tax fights (cities only), streamlined sales tax changes and support of new county utility authority. As a representative for the City of Seattle and the WA State Public Stadium Authority, he has multiple years of working on the King County-only revenue package that currently funds the arts and stadiums.
