2 Month.

3
4 WHEREAS, King County comprises eighteen school districts, more than seven 5 hundred twenty-two schools and more than three hundred thousand students, and

6 WHEREAS, King County invests in arts and heritage education through 4Culture,
7 a public development corporation chartered by King County government to promote arts 8 and heritage programs for all King County residents and visitors, and

9 WHEREAS, the arts, including dance, music, theatre and visual arts, are defined 10 as a core content area in Washington state's definition of basic education and are 11 considered an essential component of the complete education that should be provided for 12 all students, and

13 WHEREAS, learning in and through the arts enables students to develop critical 14 thinking and problem solving skills, imagination and creativity, discipline, alternative 15 ways to communicate and express feelings and ideas and cross-cultural understanding, 16 supporting academic success across the curriculum as well as personal growth outside the 17 classroom, and

18 WHEREAS, imagination and creativity are increasingly understood as critical 19 capacities needed for success in life in the 21st century, and students learn these skills 20 through meaningful learning in the arts, and

21 WHEREAS, we applaud the efforts and dedication of educators and advocates 22 around the state, and we call for school and community leaders to continue to broaden 23 and strengthen their arts education focus in order to ensure equity of access to arts 24 learning for all students;

25 NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT MOVED by the Council of King County:

26 A. The King County council reaffirms the importance of the arts as an essential 27 part of a complete education for all students.

28 B. May 2009 is recognized as Arts Education Month in King County.

29 C. All communities are encouraged to celebrate the arts with meaningful 30 activities and programs for students, teachers and the public that demonstrate learning
