AN ORDINANCE adopting the 2008 Annual Budget and making appropriations for the operation of county agencies and departments and capital improvements for the fiscal year beginning January 1, 2008, and ending December 31, 2008, and adopting the 2008/2009 Biennium Budget and making biennial appropriations for the operation of transit, the department of transportation director's office, transit revenue vehicle replacement, public transportation capital improvement program and public transportation construction fund for the fiscal biennium beginning January 1, 2008, and ending December 31, 2009.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF KING COUNTY:

SECTION 1. Findings: The council makes the following findings of fact:

A. King County government is responsible for providing a variety of services to all residents of the county. These include: regional services, such as criminal justice, public health, wastewater treatment and public transportation; subregional services through contracts with many suburban cities for police protection, jail services and municipal court services; and local services to unincorporated areas, such as police protection, roads, surface water management, local parks and land use regulation.

B. As the legislative branch of government, the metropolitan King County council sets policy for the county. It funds county services through the exercise of its authority to adopt an annual budget for the county. To provide these services, the council has adopted a 2008 budget totaling $4.9 billion, of which $662 million is in the general fund.

C. Citizens expect fiscal integrity and accountability in the use of their tax dollars. The council meets those demands by spending less, saving more and prioritizing expenditures. This adopted budget makes a total reduction from the executive proposed budget of $64 million, reduces general fund expenditures from the executive proposed budget by $1.8 million and increases general fund reserves over the executive proposed by $16 million.

D. The county's prudent financial management and low level of debt have earned the highest possible bond ratings of AAA from all three major rating agencies: Standard & Poor's; Moody's Investors Service; and Fitch Ratings. The 2008 budget continues to implement long-standing financial policies that limit debt levels and maintain healthy general fund reserves. As a result, King County finances capital projects at lower interest rates, saving taxpayers' money on the cost of debt service.

E. The metropolitan King County council provides fiscal integrity and accountability by setting spending priorities based on public expectations, funding programs consistent with those priorities, and measuring results. "Priorities for People" established three top priorities as standards for the county's 2007 budget. After a thorough citizen engagement initiative in the spring of 2007, the council on July 16, 2007, approved Motion 12545 adopting the priorities of King County for the 2008 King County budget. This budget funds programs consistent with those priorities, of which the top three are: earning public trust, enhancing quality of life and protecting public health and safety.

F. Earning public trust. The council's budget implements sound financial oversight measures; closely monitors and reports on county spending; increases citizen engagement; ensures that voting systems are secure, reliable and private; and increases accountability and transparency. This budget supports these priorities through adoption of the following measures:

1. Citizen Engagement Initiative. This budget prioritizes those services that are most important to county residents by funding an initiative to engage citizens in developing countywide priorities for their county government. In 2008, the council will continue its practice of conducting workshops with citizens to enable them to prioritize their county services on a broad level. The council will report to the public on the priorities identified by participants. The report will guide alignment of county services to the priorities of the people and will be adopted as a policy directive for development of the executive's 2009 proposed budget. The council will also develop a process for ongoing citizen engagement with regular reports back to the public;

2. Office of law enforcement oversight. The budget continues funding for the legislative branch agency created by Ordinance 15611 to enhance public trust in the resolution of citizen complaints of misconduct involving deputies in the King County sheriff's office. The independent civilian agency is empowered with auditing authority and an option for voluntary mediation, and is the result of nine months of intensive work by the council's law, justice and human services committee and by the sheriff's volunteer blue-ribbon panel. Implementation of this initiative awaits final negotiations between the executive and labor bargaining units in the sheriff's office;

3. Sheriff's office. Through Motion 12337, the council accepted the sheriff's blue-ribbon panel report, which contained forty-three findings relating to leadership, supervision, performance reviews, complaint handling, organizational structure, internal oversight and public trust in the sheriff's office. In 2007, the council ensured that the sheriff's office received funding to begin implementing needed changes. For 2008, the council funds several of the most critical recommendations from the blue-ribbon panel report and creates a reserve to fund the potential costs of maintaining levels of services in 2008;

4. Office of economic and financial analysis. This budget begins implementation of a new county office with the primary responsibility of forecasting major county revenues in a manner that is open and transparent. Following recommendations of expert consultants, it is the intent of the council that this office be overseen by a revenue forecasting council and headed by a chief economist. This office will ensure accountability to the public through the advancement of sound financial policies based on objective and transparent financial analysis and reporting;

5. Financial policies advisory task force. Sound financial policies adopted by the council in past years have led the major credit rating agencies to award King County the highest possible credit ratings. This budget implements the major recommendations of the expert panel created by the council in 2007 to review the financial and debt policies of King County, including policies that call for maintaining adequate reserves and the prudent issuance of debt. These major recommendations include creation of a rainy day reserve, simplifying the general fund financial plan, and adopting a single long-term debt policy manual that is clear, concise and usable;

6. Adopting general fund financial plan and increasing reserve funds. To meet its goals of spending less, saving more and prioritizing expenditures, the council deems it essential to maintain appropriate reserves that are funded by revenues received in excess of estimates and expenditures that are less than budgeted. This budget adopts the 2008 general fund financial plan and requires the executive to maintain and adequately fund reserves for important county priorities, as set forth in this budget and financial plan. As the policy-making body of the county it is appropriate that the council authorize the creation of reserves and any spending from reserves needed to fund county priorities;

7. Rainy day reserve. This budget creates a permanent rainy day reserve that insulates essential county services from the effect of catastrophic loss or a severe downturn in the local economy. The council has directed the transfers of $15 million currently in the sales tax reserve within the general fund into the new rainy day reserve. It is the intent of the council that the rainy day reserve can only be tapped by a declaration of emergency by the council;

8. Elections oversight. One of the most important responsibilities entrusted to King County is the conduct of elections. Therefore, one of the most significant actions taken in the 2008 budget and related legislation is the creation of a separate elections division within the department of executive services. Among other benefits, this will allow elections leadership and staff to focus solely on conducting accurate and fair elections.

In June 2006, the council voted to make King County the largest local jurisdiction in the nation to conduct all elections by mail, once the infrastructure and management are in place to accomplish it. A key part of that transition is the creation of regional voting centers to serve disabled voters, many of whom have never been able to cast a truly secret ballot. This budget adds $813,931 for twelve regional voting centers that will be located throughout King County, and adds seven full-time-equivalent employees for elections to further enhance operations;

9. Animal services oversight. King County is committed to improving the humane care of animals in its custody. In 2007, the council adopted Motion 12521, Motion 12600 and Ordinance 15801 to provide a framework for the implementation of a "no-kill" policy at King County animal shelters. The report received from the King County animal care and control citizen's advisory committee raises disturbing concerns about disease control and the provision of sanitary shelter services, leading to high rates of disease, high levels of stress and increased rates of euthanasia. This budget provides for the most critical upgrades to the county's animal shelter facilities and improvements to the provision of medical care, nutrition and socialization, while the council considers the business decision of discontinuing the provision of animal sheltering services so as to allow for more humane care of animals in King County. In order to determine the appropriate services and level of funding for the future of King County animal services, the council has requested the auditor to evaluate the purpose, effectiveness and cost of the animal licensing program and King County's provision of services to contract cities;

10. Technology savings and oversight. This budget tightens fiscal oversight of several information technology projects by requiring the completion of key milestones before additional expenditures are authorized. This budget saves $2.1 million by eliminating requests that the council determines to be unjustified at this time. This budget also improves the financial plan for the institutional fiber-optic cable network (I-Net) by reducing expenditures by $474,304 to align with anticipated revenues and requiring a long term plan for I-Net that evaluates alternatives to its continued operation.

H. Enhancing quality of life: The council's 2008 budget: manages growth wisely; provides quality local government services; improves transportation options and provides greater mobility for people, vehicles and freight; maintains levees; and creates and encourages vibrant cultural and recreational opportunities. This budget supports these priorities through adoption of the following measures:

1. Metro Transit. This budget adds 157,592 service hours over the biennium's base level from 2007. The council has identified administrative efficiencies that provide funds for additional 6,900 service hours each year.

With this budget, the council begins implementation of biennial budgeting as approved by voters in 2003, with a budget for transit services that covers the 2008-2009 biennium. Biennial budgeting will allow the council to dedicate more time and resources to oversight and policy direction for transit services;

2. Regional trails and open space. This budget implements the voter-approved parks expansion levy, which will provide funding to acquire land and develop missing links to regional trails. The levy will provide funding to cities for their expansion of trails and open space, as well as funding for conservation programs at the Woodland Park Zoo;

3. Roads and county mobility. In approving the 2008 roads operating budget and 2008-2013 capital improvement program, the council seeks to address the long-term roads funding crisis by building on past efforts to assure accountability, efficiency and cost-effectiveness.

The November 6, 2007, defeat of the Roads and Transit ballot measure means that the central Puget Sound region will have to rethink its approach to transportation needs. For the road services division, the immediate impact is the elimination of $110 million in essential funding for the South Park Bridge project in the roads CIP. While reevaluating the South Park Bridge's future, with closure and demolition as an option, the county must look for efficiencies to maximize the delivery of other unincorporated area road projects. To move forward on this important objective, and to prepare the division for future challenges, the council has taken the following steps in this budget:

a. The road services division is directed to report to the council with a work program for an operational master plan. This comprehensive evaluation of the division's mission will address the life-cycle costs of strategies to accomplish defined goals and objectives, performance measures, and needed resources. Because it will cover the division's full range of activities, the operational master plan will address a need that would not be met by the division's proposed review of maintenance facility needs and will prepare the division for a future when its sole direct responsibility will be unincorporated rural area roads;

b. Pending the information that will be generated through the operational master plan process, the roads CIP is reduced by more than $74,000,000 over six years. These funds can be reprogrammed when the council has sufficient information to target cost-effective investments in the highest priority roads projects;

c. In keeping with the goal of controlling costs in the county's capital improvement programs, the council has restricted expenditures for either design or construction management, or both, for selected roads CIP projects that exceed benchmark standards; and

d. Roads CIP projects will be subject to evaluation along with other major capital projects, as provided elsewhere in this budget. The council intends to ensure that the division complies with performance measures, recommended follow-up implementation of the roads capital planning audit and application of industry best practices and lessons learned from comparable agencies;

4. Noxious weeds. This budget fully funds the noxious weed control program to provide state-mandated noxious weed oversight in accordance with the recommendations of the noxious weed board's per-parcel fee. The council has reduced the executive's proposed per-acre fee to lessen the impact of this fee on the agricultural community in King County;

5. Historic preservation and heritage programs. This budget requests the auditor to conduct a comprehensive analysis of the allocation, expenditure and accounting of the revenues generated by document filing fees, to ensure that those revenues are used to support historic preservation and heritage programs consistent with the intent of House Bill 1386. The audit will consider the funding and support for historic preservation and heritage programs prior to the enactment of House Bill 1386, to ensure that the filing fee surcharge is used to complement rather than replace existing resources dedicated to those programs.

6. King County Ferry District. Based on the state's decision to discontinue certain ferry functions and services and to ensure that waterborne transit maintains its critical role for the mobility solution for the region, the county under state legislative authority created a King County Ferry District to: assume and fund operations of the state's Vashon Island to downtown Seattle passenger-only ferry service; operate the successful Elliott Bay water taxi between West Seattle and downtown Seattle as a permanent, year-round service; and pursue five demonstration routes linking Seattle with the local shoreline communities of Kirkland/Eastside, Kenmore/North Lake Washington, Shilshole/North Puget Sound, Renton/South Lake Washington and Des Moines/South Puget Sound.

In the 2008 budget, the council took steps to ensure that passenger-only ferry service in King County can be implemented in a cost-effective way with appropriate oversight. The council established a marine division within the department of transportation, joining the transit division, road services division, fleet administration division, King County International Airport and the director's office. The marine division will carry out passenger-only ferry operating and capital programs on behalf of the King County Ferry District. This institutional arrangement will result in more effective communication between the ferry district and the county. It will support effective service delivery, not only the highly successful Elliott Bay water taxi and passenger-only service between Vashon Island and downtown Seattle but also up to five demonstration routes on Lake Washington and in Puget Sound. Together with the funding action taken by the ferry district board, the council's creation of the marine division will hasten the return of the mosquito fleet; and

7. King County Flood Control Zone District. Forty years ago, the federal government built the levees that prevent six main stem rivers and their tributaries from flooding large areas of King County, but has since failed to adequately fund efforts by the Army Corps of Engineers to help maintain or repair failing flood levees. To prevent catastrophic flooding and economic disaster like that seen in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, the county under state legislative authority created a King County Flood Control Zone District to fund and oversee a ten-year program to rebuild and maintain King County's aging system of five hundred levees and hardened embankments that protect lives, businesses, public infrastructure and roads.

This budget ensures that the work program and projects of the flood control zone district can be implemented in a cost-effective way with appropriate oversight, by establishing a new section within the water and land resources division to provide the county's flood control expertise and staff resources to the district and coordinate the implementation of operating and capital programs.

I. Protecting public health and safety. The council's 2008 budget: invests in prevention to reduce crime and the cost of detention; promotes conditions for optimal physical and mental health; sustains critical health and human service programs; and prepares our community for natural disasters and public health emergencies. This budget supports these priorities through adoption of the following measures:

1. Prevention over detention. This budget maintains and expands implementation of the council's successful adult justice operational master plan ("AJOMP") and juvenile justice operational master plan ("JJOMP"). These plans call on the county's law and justice agencies to reduce the costs of secure detention through the use of alternatives to detention, treatment programs and process improvements. Since implementation of the plans in 2001, the county has avoided spending more than $225 million that it would have spent had jail use continued at historical rates, with no increase in county crime rates. Alternatives to secure detention implemented through AJOMP and JJOMP are being utilized at rates much higher than expected and have outgrown existing facilities. As a result, this budget ensures that planning efforts for program growth are reviewed as part of the regional criminal justice system. This budget calls for an evaluation to improve the booking of inmates countywide, and states the council's intent that the county participate in planning for any new jail capacity. This budget also implements audit recommendations to fund new corrections staff for adult detention to reduce the over-utilization of mandatory overtime that jeopardizes officer and inmate safety;

2. Improving the county's courts. This budget maintains and increases funding for district court staff. In 2007, the council approved a comprehensive staffing study of the court, and added seventeen staff. This budget funds an additional four staff to improve court customer service and address the court's rising caseloads. In addition, this budget reserves funding for the district court and the department of judicial administration to defray the costs of an unfunded state mandate to implement a new court records management system that improves citizen use of the courts and overall system efficiency.

The council recognizes the costs of other unfunded state mandates that cannot be covered in the 2008 budget. On July 22, 2007, Senate Bill 5470 made a series of changes to marriage dissolution and parenting plans, requiring that the courts complete a significant background screening before the finalization of parenting plans. The court estimates that it needs an additional $699,514 and additional staff to fully meet the statutory requirements to complete these enhanced checks and address the issues that arise from them. The limited availability of CX funds places a severe burden on the court;

3. Courthouse security. In response to citizen concerns about personal safety when visiting the King County courthouse as well as threats to county employees working there and in other county facilities, the council expedited funding totaling $200,000 for high-priority facility improvements, including enhanced key card access controls throughout the building, bulletproof glass built into strategic areas and added cameras for enhanced monitoring. It also included expedited funding totaling $300,000 for development of a long-range security master plan to make a comprehensive review of security requirements at all county facilities and provide a prioritized list of any additional security needs;

4. Public health. This budget makes key investments to implement the policies and strategies of the public health operational master plan ("PHOMP"), adopted by the council in 2007 to ensure the continued delivery of essential public health services that protect and improve the health and well-being of all people in King County.

This budget fully funds all public health centers in King County, addressing one of the top priorities cited by participants in the citizen engagement initiative, and establishes accountability through the King County board of health for continued work with the community to assure access to high quality health care.

This budget establishes a $3 million dollar target reserve in the general fund to ensure that the county is able to respond to public health emergencies and can continue implementation of the PHOMP in 2009 and thereafter.

This budget also supports implementation of recommendations by the King County board of health to reduce the number of new human immunodeficiency virus infections in King County, with support from the general funds of both the county and the city of Seattle;

5. Medical examiner. This budget promotes greater public health, safety and customer service through additional staff resources in the office of the medical examiner, including a forensic pathologist, death investigator and administrative support;

6. Human services. Controlling the costs of the criminal justice system in this and prior years allows the county to sustain support for human services and continue to improve services for the least fortunate members of our community;

7. Veterans and human services levy. This budget continues investment of the proceeds from the voter-approved veterans and human services levy. These investments in service and housing improvements will prevent and reduce homelessness and involvement in the criminal justice system for vulnerable veterans and others in need. The levy proceeds are being allocated by citizen boards, ensuring equitable and appropriate allocation across the county for those most in need. This budget increases council oversight of levy funds by requiring submission of quarterly progress reports; and

8. Mental illness and drug dependency. After hearing from hundreds of citizens at public hearings over the past year, and in response to priorities voiced in the citizen engagement initiative, the council is joining with seven other counties across the state to exercise authority granted by the state legislature to enact a one-tenth of one percent sales tax to fund new and expanded mental health and chemical dependency services. These new services include mental health and chemical dependency treatment for those who do not now receive it; stabilization services and housing in the community to keep seriously disabled individuals out of more costly jail or emergency rooms; training; prevention; and new and expanded therapeutic court programs, based on the report prepared pursuant to Motion 12320. Because it is the policy of the county that citizens and policymakers be able to measure the effectiveness of the investment of these public funds, this budget requires a three-phased oversight, implementation and evaluation plan for the programs supported with the new tax revenue.

J. Continuing implementation of council initiatives. This budget embodies years of previous council policy direction and coordination that have stabilized criminal justice spending, created priorities for human services, implemented best business practices, instituted strategic planning and performance measurement, initiated strategic analysis of technology projects and laid the foundation for prudent fiscal management. The outcomes of these strategic policies are seen in ongoing levels of efficiencies and cost savings in the current budget. These efficiencies and savings can be seen in the following ways:

1. Criminal justice cost containment. Before council adoption of AJOMP and JJOMP, the county's criminal justice budget was growing faster than the revenues available to the general fund, thereby reducing the ability to maintain or improve health and human services and general government. By one projection, the cost of criminal justice would have consumed the entire general fund budget by 2008. Instead, the council-enacted policies have contained the costs of criminal justice to a relatively steady seventy percent of general fund revenues over the past three years. As a direct result of past council action, the county has avoided costs exceeding $225 million since 2001;

2. Lower adult detention. This budget benefits from past investments to reduce secure detention population, reduce recidivism through treatment and improve the efficiency of processing criminal cases. In 2000, the executive projected that the adult secure jail average daily population ("ADP") would be almost four thousand by 2008. Instead, this budget appropriates funds for an adult jail ADP of 2,584. Without the council's policies the county would have had to build a new jail costing $40 to $120 million to build and $5 to $20 million a year to operate;

3. Lower juvenile detention. Likewise, implementation of JJOMP has led to a juvenile detention average daily population that is half of what it once was. This budget maintains existing juvenile justice programs and continues the council's policy direction on program sustainability. In 2005, the council directed the executive to ensure that proven and effective programs receive sustained sources of funding after grants or pilot project funding run out, so that the county can reap the ongoing benefits of reduced detention costs. This policy has saved the county more than $3 million each year since 2002;

4. Higher use of alternatives to incarceration. The success of alternatives to secure detention through the department's community corrections division is demonstrated by utilization rates that are much higher than projected. Each day, nearly one thousand offenders receive services through alternatives to secure detention programs rather than being in jail - ten times the number using those alternatives in 2000. The county's day reporting programs, known as the community center for alternative programs, were projected to have an average of ninety-nine participants per day in 2007. Instead, those programs have grown to an average of nearly two hundred participants per day through September 2007, with all of the division's programs showing similar success in providing alternatives to incarceration. These programs have allowed the county to avoid almost $3 million a year in detention costs;

5. Technology oversight. The council's technology governance process protects the public's investment in information technology ("IT") by establishing oversight and standards for all information technology projects undertaken in the county. For example, all countywide technology projects are now required to follow the best practices in IT project management and are tracked centrally. Before this oversight, the county's investments in technology lacked a strategic, comprehensive approach; and

6. Financial Policies. The council has adopted sound financial policies over the years that continue to save taxpayers money through lower interest rates in the financing of capital projects. These policies include: Motion 5888 in 1983, which required minimum levels of fund balance in the county's current expense fund; Motion 7020 in 1987, which dedicated a portion of additional sales tax revenues to the creation of a sales tax reserve to be used for financial emergencies; Motions 8352 and 8446 in 1991, which reaffirmed the council's intent that the sales tax reserve be used for financial emergencies; and Motion 11196 in 2000, which enacted the King County General Fund Debt Policy and outlined practices for the issuance and management of debt.

K. It is the intent of the metropolitan King County council that its policies be implemented through the 2008 King County budget ordinance.

SECTION 2. Effect of proviso or expenditure restriction veto. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent of the council that a veto of any proviso or expenditure restriction that conditions the expenditure of a stated dollar amount or the use of FTE authority upon the performance of a specific action by an agency shall thereby reduce the appropriation authority to that agency by the stated dollar or FTE amount.

The ABT program management office and the office of management and budget ("OMB") shall continue to work collaboratively with council staff to develop the proposed budget system processes for CIP reporting and analysis requirements to ensure that the countywide budget system selected as part of the ABT program will be able to report for each CIP project the following "reporting elements": 1) the initial, baseline schedule, scope of work and budget ("baseline information"); (2) all the costs, incurred to date and/or projected to complete the project, by a standard category system ("standard system") to be used by all agencies to capture and report such project costs; (3) the standards or methodologies used by the CIP agency for estimating those costs; (4) the schedule milestones for each project, completed and projected; and (5) a reporting mechanism that clearly indicates a project's deviations from the initial baseline information, when the deviations occurred, in what project cost category and the reasons why.

However, the executive shall not be required to report on any projects with either a total project cost of less than $750,000, or projects involving work order construction contracts or projects involving small work roster construction contracts. The report shall be broken into chapters, with each CIP agency constituting a chapter.

The executive shall submit the proposed motion and the critical analysis report, in the form of 11 copies with the clerk of the council, who will retain the original and forward copies to each councilmember and the lead staff of the capital budget committee, or its successor. The executive shall submit this proposed motion and report within 120 days after the ABT program management office has submitted in writing, the proposed CIP reporting and analysis requirements that will be included in ABT high level business design for the budget system business functions, required by proviso P1 to this section. The resources to develop and produce the motion and critical analysis report shall be provided by the ABT program management office of the department of executive services.

P3 PROVIDED FURTHER THAT:

Of this appropriation, $25,000 shall not be expended or encumbered until the council reviews, and by motion acknowledges receipt of a report from the OMB detailing a review of the feasibility of implementing changes in how the county uses its community corrections programs. The office shall transmit the report to the council by April 1, 2008. The OMB, working with representatives of the superior court, district court, office of the prosecuting attorney, office of the public defender, sheriff and the departments of adult and juvenile detention and community and human services, shall review the current use of community corrections alternatives and programs and evaluate whether changes in screening, processing, sentencing or monitoring compliance could lead to better utilization of existing community corrections program capacity.

The report shall identify the executive's plans for negotiating and implementing agreements with the courts to implement any proposed changes, schedules, resources needed for implementing program changes and milestones.

The plan required to be submitted by this proviso must be filed in the form of 11 copies with the clerk of the council, who will retain the original and will forward copies to each councilmember and to the lead staff for the law, justice and human services committee, or its successor.

P4 PROVIDED FURTHER THAT:

Of this appropriation, $50,000 shall not be encumbered or expended unless, by February 1, 2008, OMB has transmitted, and the council has approved by motion, a report on the progress of the city of Kirkland towards annexation of the Kirkland Potential Annexation Area. At a minimum, the study will include: (1) a discussion of the communication and outreach plan for the area; (2) a detailed discussion of the GIS mapping needs for the area and any areas of deficiency between what the city feels is needed and what could be provided by the county GIS division; and (3) a discussion of the needs for a fiscal model and any areas of deficiency between what the city feels is needed and what the county could provide.

Furthermore, the report will provide options for funding such activities as well as the executive's preferred alternative for doing so.

The report required is to be submitted in the form of 11 of copies with the clerk of the council, who will retain the original and will forward copies to each councilmember and to the lead staff for the operating budget, fiscal management and mental health committee, or its successor.

By May 1, 2008, the facilities management division, in collaboration with the historic preservation program staff and landmarks commission and the office of management and budget, shall submit to the council for its review and approval by ordinance, the updated cost estimates and financing plan described above.

The report and legislation required to be submitted by this proviso must be filed in the form of 11 copies with the clerk of the council, who will retain the original and will forward copies to each councilmember and to the lead staff for the capital budget committee, or its successor.

Of this appropriation, $250,000 shall not be expended or encumbered until the council receives and approves by ordinance an action plan for county stewardship of county-owned historic structures and receives and adopts legislation officially designating historic preservation and historic restoration and rehabilitation as categories of work that is eligible for major maintenance reserve funding.

By June 1, 2008, the facilities management division, in collaboration with the historic preservation program staff and landmarks commission, shall submit to the council for its review and approval by ordinance a detailed action plan for county stewardship of historic structures including, at a minimum, policies and procedures that ensure that either the county historic preservation office or the landmarks commission, or both review and give technical expertise and guidance before proposed action, such as the sale, remodel or demolition of any county property over 40 years of age or that possesses archaeological value, takes place, and provided further that the facilities management division and office of management and budget add historic restoration, preservation and rehabilitation as important categories of projects on county properties eligible for major maintenance funding as directed in this proviso by the council.

The report and legislation required to be submitted by this proviso must be filed in the form of 11 copies with the clerk of the council, who will retain the original and will forward copies to each councilmember and to the lead staff for the capital budget committee, or its successor.
